Dear Customer,

We recognize that the devastating impact of Hurricanes Harvey and Irma are raising worldwide concerns about the delivery of our products and services. At this time we want to inform you that we have been in contact with many of our suppliers and do not foresee any major impacts to our supply chain.

As the clean-up and recovery effort moves forward, we will continue to reach out to our suppliers to seek information regarding the delivery status of current or future orders. As we receive information, we will pass it on to you - our customers.

Please contact your Avantor account representative with any questions or concerns that you may have. Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

Regards,
